INTRODUCTION

This document contains the 2007 World Series Report, including Scorer's Essay, the Tournament Brackets, line scores for each game, statistics for each team, trophy winners, the breakdown for tournament compensation and the media summaries.

THE 73RD ANNUAL NBC WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNAMENT

The 2007 NBC World Series witnessed another first-time Champion, just as it did in 2006. The Havasu (AZ) Heat of the Pacific Southwest League won their first NBC title by defeating the Hays (KS) Larks in a 14-2 victory. Just as with the previous tournament, the Champion went undefeated with a 7-0 record. The Heat became the first team from Arizona to win the Championship.

The Heat was an offensive juggernaut throughout the tournament, leading all teams with a .345 Batting Average and cranking out 11 Home Runs, more than doubling the previous team high of five. Havasu outscored its seven tournament opponents by a score of 71-20 with 40 of those runs coming in the first four innings of their games. The 2006 Champion and Runner-Up gave the Heat their closest games of the tournament. Havasu came from behind in the top of the ninth inning to defeat the Derby (KS) Twins by a score of 6-4 (12 innings); then the next night defeated the defending Champion, the Santa Barbara (CA) Foresters, by a score of 7-6. The Hays (KS) Larks played Havasu twice in the tournament and lost 11 - 7 (11 Innings) and 14 - 2 respectively.

In the Championship Game, Hays shortstop Mike Brownstein hit a double down the right field line and was in scoring position with one out and advanced to third on a fielder's choice. However, he was stranded at third base after a fly out to centerfield. In the bottom of the first, the Havasu Heat jumped out to a 1-0 lead and never looked back. Second baseman Tim Carrier drew a walk to lead off the inning and then scored on a double to center by Brad Arnett. Arnett tied with Erick Morrison of Hays for a tournament leading 13 hits in the tournament.

The score remained 1-0 until the bottom of the third inning when the Heat exploded for four runs. A single and two bases on balls loaded the bases for right fielder Brandon Patek who doubled down the right field line to clear the bases. Carrier singled through the left side of the infield and drove in Kevin Ramos for the final run of the inning, giving the Heat a 5-0 lead.

The Heat scored 5 more runs in the fourth inning adding to their 5-0 lead. With the bases loaded again, the scoring started when Dylan Libadosis singled to drive in Ricky Orton who had walked. After a strikeout, Kevin Ramos, who went 4-4 in the game, tripled down the right field line, scoring Jared Stanley, Scott Talbert, and Libadosis. The final run was scored by Ramos after Carrier singled through the left side of the infield. The Heat led 10-0, but because the run-rule was not in effect for the Championship Game the two teams went nine innings.

In the next four innings, the Heat scored 4 more runs. All total, the Heat collected 17 hits, 4 doubles (Arnett, Stephen Robinson, Cody Neer, and Patek), and a home run by Jared Stanley. The Havasu Heat placed 4 out of the top 5 hitters in the tournament (Arnett, Carrier, Stanley, and Neer), 3 in Runs Scored (Stanley, Neer Talbert), 3 in the Runs Batted In (Ramos, Stanley, and Patek), 2 in Doubles (Neer and Orton) and 1 in Triples (Ramos). Jared Stanley and Drew Moffit tied with three Home Runs apiece to lead the World Series in Home Runs.

With all of that offense, the Heat was unbeatable. The interesting fact is that the Heat also led the tournament in Team Pitching. In 7 games their pitchers had an ERA of 2.32, allowing only 16 Earned Runs, 14 Bases on Balls and 65 Strikeouts. Congratulations to the Havasu Heat players and coaches, and especially Dick "Chief" Twyman, for winning the 2007 NBC World Series.

Congratulations to Frank Leo and the Hays Larks for another great run at the championship. This marks the fourth time the Larks have finished runner-up in the NBC World Series. The Larks also placed four players (Brownstein, Morrison, Angel and Hutt) on the All America Team and had a 1.96 team ERA until the final game.

NBC WORLD SERIES ATTENDANCE

The attendance for the 73rd Annual NBC World Series was 73,928, slightly down from last year's tournament totals. The largest day's attendance was again during Baseball 'Round the Clock when 7,298 people attended Friday's sessions and 8,283 attended Saturday's games. With the temperatures in the upper 90's and low 100's, many chose to stay at home and not fight the heat (no pun intended).

71 GAMES AT LAWRENCE-DUMONT, 11 AT MAIZE HS FIELD

A total of 71 games were played at Lawrence-Dumont Stadium during the 73rd Annual NBC World Series and 11 games were played at Maize High School Field. Maize Field proved to be a good second site for the tournament and the facilities were to the liking of the fans that traveled to watch their teams play there. All but one game was a loser bracket game and the teams were guaranteed to only play one game at the second site.

INTERNET AND MEDIA COVERAGE

Once again, the NBC provided live web casts of the tournament on the internet at www.nbcbaseball.com. Although there were some glitches with the web casts, most of the games were carried in their entirety. Fans, parents, and patrons were able to follow their team's progress despite the fact that they couldn't make the trip to Wichita. Radio coverage of the feature games, semifinals and the Championship was provided by radio station KFH 1240 AM. In addition, ten clubs in the tournament broadcast their games back to their home towns.

CLASS OF 2007 NBC HALL OF FAME

Five individuals were inducted into the National Baseball Congress Hall of Fame in 2007. Andy Teter, who played or managed in 18 NBC World Series, was the first to be inducted on Opening Night. Mr. Teter was a member of two National Champions, having played for the 1954 and 1955 Boeing Bombers. Our second inductee was Arnold Ashley of North Carolina. Mr. Ashley has served as the North Carolina State Tournament Director and the North Carolina NBC Commissioner for 31 years. In 1993, Mr. Ashley was recognized with the Raymond "Hap" Dumont Award for his contributions to the National Baseball Congress. Our third inductee was longtime scout, Herb Hess. Mr. Hess has scouted for three Major League teams over the past 45 years (Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds and the Cleveland Indians). He has also assisted Hap Dumont in staging clinics for over 5,000 kids. Mr. Hess also played and coached in the Victory League and his son, Marty, currently is coaching a Victory League team. The last two inductees were Robert, Jr. and Melinda Rich. In 1986, the Rich's partnered with Joe Ryan of the American Association to manage the NBC World Series. In 1988, the Rich family assumed sole ownership of the tournament in addition to the professional Double-A franchise that called Lawrence-Dumont home until this year. Mr. Rich has served as Chairman of the NBC World Series and Mindy as the Executive Vice-President.

THE 2008 NBC WORLD SERIES

The dates for the 74th Annual National Baseball Congress World Series are yet to be determined. As soon as it is determined, the dates for the tournament will be posted on our website. The Havasu Heat and the Hays Larks will have automatic berths due to their 1-2 finish in 2007. The Pacific Southwest and the Jayhawk Leagues will receive two berths in 2008. All other leagues and tournaments will receive one berth, but additional teams from affiliated leagues may receive a berth if any league or tournament chooses not to send a representative.

Beginning in September 2007, the National Baseball Congress will be under the direction of new ownership. The City of Wichita purchased the NBC from Rich Baseball Inc. and will take over ownership in September. The City Council approved the start of negotiations with an investor's group connected to the American Association, an independent baseball league. The group will be responsible for running both the independent team and the NBC. They will lease the NBC from the city.

2007 Official Scorer's Essay

The Broadview Hotel, Wichita, Kan., Aug. 12, 2006

Game length: A little quicker

This writer begins the 2007 essay of the National Baseball Congress World Series revisiting the question he posed last year about length of tournament games.

After increases annually since 2000, the average length of games decreased in the 2007 tournament by a bit over five minutes from last year (2:15:02 vs. 2:20:14 in 2006). For the first time since the 2004 tournament, there were more games in the 2:00-2:14 block (29) than in the others. Also significant was the fact the games in the 2:45-2:59 block saw a decrease of eight from the previous year.

Run-rule games: It finally happened....

Since 2002, when the 6-run lead after seven innings was dropped, this writer has logged the number of games that would have been called had the rule still been in effect.

Prior to this tournament, no team that was trailing when the 6-run rule would have been invoked overcame that deficit (16 times in 2002, 20 in 2003, 19 in 2004, 19 in 2005, 19 in 2006, or 113 times in that span). But in the first game of July 31, the Denver Cougars successfully overcame a 6-run deficit in eliminating Springfield MO 9-8 (the Cougars trailed 7-1 after seven innings). However, no other team succeeded in overcoming such a large deficit that late (there were a total of 22 such games this year).

So, while this writer believes that it would help the tournament run closer to the time schedules with such a rule (1 successful rally in 135 occurrences over six years not really decisive at 0.741%), if those who decide matters on the field do not believe so, then it will not happen.

Meanwhile, eight games were called on the 10-run lead rule, while seven went extra innings. Average margin of victory declined slightly from 2006, but at 4.63 runs/game, it was the second highest margin since last year.

Thirty-three games were decided by one or two runs (an increase of nine from last year); games decided by 10 or more runs also increased, but slightly.

Offense took a step back

The tournament batting average almost retreated to 2005 levels with a .265 average, down from last year's .291. Average runs per game fell by over one per game, while hits dropped a bit over two per game. Home runs, through, took another jump from 2006, up to .70/game

Tournament champion Havasu paced seven teams over .300 with a .345 average. The Heat hit 11 home runs in the tournament, more than doubling the previous team high of five. Six teams batted under .200, with Pratt KS the lowest at .119. Interestingly, Crestwood, which took third, was one of those teams at .197.

Pitching took a step forward

The tournament ERA was 4.45, an improvement of 0.42 earned run per game, but still the second highest figure since 2000. There were 15 shutouts, up by five from last year.

Seven teams posted an ERA under 3.00, lead by Havasu's 2.32. This writer believes it is the first time a team had both the best batting average and ERA. (Hays had a 1.64 ERA before the championship game, but the Heat almost doubled that after the title game). No team had an ERA over 10.00, the second time that has happened. Midwest KS had the worst at 9.53.

Fielding: still steady...

Tournament fielding remained about the same as last year, moving up a point to .955. Errors were down slightly to 3.45 per game, but double plays took a hit, falling to 1.63.

Nevada MO took top honors with a .989 percentage with just two errors committed in 181 chances. Five other teams had one or two errors, but all were ousted after two games. Two teams had sub-.900 fielding, with the Colorado Bombers the worst at .893.

Junction City KS turned a tournament-high 11 double plays.

There were three errorless games: Junction City-Nevada (#5), Clarinda-Arizona (#11) and SD Stars-Ft. Lauderdale (#29). The worst fielding game was Prescott-Junction City and Crestwood-Austin Gold Sox, each with seven. Prescott had the worst fielding game with six errors against Junction City.

A-Maize-ments

With the secondary site at Maize HS this year, play proved to be livelier than at Lawrence-Dumont. Teams batted .291 there, compared to .261 at L-D. The increase in home runs -- 57 against 44 in 2006 -- can be traced to Maize; while there were four fewer homers hit at L-D (39 against 43 in 2006), 17 were hit at Maize, an average of 1.55 per game. The ERA at Maize was 5.22, almost a run higher at L-D, which had a 4.22 mark.

Home runs were almost more evenly spaced out this year, with between six to nine homers over the first eight innings.

Invulnerable...

Havasu became the fourth team to go undefeated in winning the title (joining Santa Barbara last year, Aloha OR in 2004 and Liberal in 2000).

And many thanks to...

This writer salutes the yeoman efforts of Aaron McMullen, doing the TAS scoring while the writer wasn't there, Gary Goad, Rick Masters, Larry Shirk and Rachelle Miller in doing the associate scoring.

And, the writer also thanks Jerry Taylor, Josh Robertson and Eric Edelstein for helping this writer complete his 24th tournament.

Multi-State League

Kansas topped the record it and California set last year when the Sunflower State sent 11 teams. That total matched the next two teams, California (6) and Texas (5). Arizona sent four for the first time.
